GERMANY HEALTHIEST
COUNTRY IN THE WORLD

Official Manual Claims There Are Few Cases of Smallpox in the Kaiser's Domain.

Berlin, Nov. 22.—Germany's official health manual, the yearly edition of which has just been issued, makes the claim that the fatherland is the healthiest country in the world. This claim is based on Prof. Loran's theory that a country's health is best measured by the number of smallpox cases annually occurring within its borders.

Germany ranks exceedingly high judged by that standard. It is declared that smallpox is so rare that many doctors never have an opportunity of treating it. The health manual aims to instruct the general public in the elementary principles of hygiene.

Its contents cover every human malady and afford evidence of Germany's paternal interest in the commonest affairs of its citizens. The book is full of passages indicating the necessity of healthful conditions in order to insure a never-failing supply of able-bodied men for the national army.

WASHED STAMPS
BUY CHILDREN

United States Officers Arrest Aged Man and Obtain Startling News.

(Special By Scripps-McRae.)
Washington, D. C., Nov. 22.—For many years the United States postal authorities and others have heard rumors that somebody was willing to pay a fabulous amount for 1,000,000 canceled postage stamps. The somebody has never been definitely named, but it has been vaguely stated that the proceeds of the stamps would be devoted to charity and that some wealthy individual would pay the premium.

Perhaps an episode in Newark may shed a little light upon the matter. Today Postal Inspector J. L. Cortelyou the brother of President Roosevelt's secretary, and United States Marshall John Garfield of Newark, arrested in that city, Henry Boisseau, a Frenchman, 70 years old, who is an inmate of the home of the Little Sisters of the Poor.

Boisseau is a veteran of three wars. He sent washed stamps in exchange for articles that he desired to get. The old man was arrested and his room in the home was visited. At least 50,000 stamps were found, soaking in a wash tub.

The mother superior of the institution said Boisseau had nothing to do with the collection of these stamps, but that he and other aged inmates were employed to soak them in the envelopes, dry them, and arrange them for shipment to China, where they brought a good price and were highly esteemed for wall decorations.

The sisters said that the stamps had a high value in the eyes of the Chinese, and that Christian workers exchanged them for children, who were adopted and brought up to the Christian faith by the missionaries.

MISSION WILL BE OUT OF ORDINARY

HOLY CROSS FATHERS TO CONDUCT THE MEETINGS.

FATHER HUNTINGTON COMING

Unusual Treat Expected—To Be Given by Parishes of Christ and Trinity Churches.

Never has anything been attempted by the Episcopal churches in this city of quite the same magnitude and along the same lines as the mission, which is to be held in January. Two missions have been held in previous years, but they were comprehensive in scope, and on a much smaller scale.

Are Completing Plans. Even since Father Huntington left here about three weeks ago at which time he made the preliminary arrangements for the mission, correspondence has been carried on with the fathers and the plans are maturing as rapidly as could be wished for.

In Two Churches. The mission is to be held in Trinity and Christ churches and will be conducted by three of the Fathers of the Order of the Holy Cross. The vows which the members of this order take for life are poverty, chastity and obedience. They devote their lives to prayer, works of charity and the holding of missions.

Noted Father To Preach. One of the three fathers who are to come to this city are Father Huntington, Father Huggins and Father Sill. Father Huntington is considered one of the ablest divines in the Episcopal church. Father Huggins is already known to this city, having been here a few weeks ago. The monastery of the Holy Cross from which these fathers come is located at Westminster, Maryland.

Unusual Services. The mission will be something quite out of the ordinary. The fathers, being men of scholarly attainments and skilled in their life work are expected to make the occasion one of interest and benefit not only to the parishes most directly concerned, but to the city in general. The mission services will not follow the usual order of the ordinary services of the church.

Order Of Meetings. There will be a daily service and catechizing for children each day during the mission in the afternoon. In the evening at 7:30 the daily mission service for adults, consisting merely of a few hymns and prayers and the regular mission preaching will be held. Services will be conducted simultaneously in Christ and Trinity churches.

A story is told of an editor of a go-ahead London evening newspaper, who, in the eternal rushing to get to press ahead of the opposition, was constantly impressing upon his reporters the necessity for condensing the news.

A terrible boiler explosion had taken place on board a ship lying at Portsmouth.

"Get down there as hard as you can," he said to one of the men, "if you catch the 11:40 from London bridge you will be there soon after 2 and can just wire us something for the fifth edition, but hell it down."

And the reporter went. Soon after 3 o'clock they got a wire from him: "Terrible explosion. Man-o-war. Boiler empty. Engineer full. Funeral tomorrow."—London Tit-Bits.

SETTLERS STOCKYARD FIGHT

Court Holds Breaking into Cattle Pens Is Not Malice

The fight which began several weeks ago between the Leo Live Stock Commission Company and the Union Stock Yards and Transit Company was renewed today before Judge Fitzgerald. The courtroom was filled with interested spectators, who heavily enjoyed the predicament the attorney for the yard company was placed in by Mr. Lee, who personally conducted his own case.

The charge was malicious mischief, which is punishable by a very heavy fine and imprisonment. In refusing fine and imprisonment, Judge said in substance: "I hardly see how any court or jury in the world could find malice in the defendants act, inasmuch as the alleged offense was committed in broad daylight, in the presence of the stockyard officials, the general public, and solely in the interest of his patrons."

Mr. Lee is president of the Chicago Live Stock Commission Company of Kansas City; also of a very prosperous bank at Miami, Texas. He is receiving congratulations on all sides for having the courage to smash the company's locks in the yards and personally justify himself in court—Chicago Post.

A CARD. We, the undersigned, do hereby agree to refund the money on a 50-cent bottle of Green's warranted Syrup of Tar if it fails to cure your cough or cold. We also guarantee a 25-cent bottle to prove satisfactory or money refunded.

"GET ONE" CLUB IS NOW STARTED

Young Men's Christian Association Has a Novel Plan for New Membership.

With the hope of securing one hundred new members for the Young Men's Christian Association by January first, a "Get One" club has been organized this week. It is in a remote way similar to a chain letter, save that it has an end, and a very definite one. The chain is started by the membership committee of the association.

Membership Committee Planned. This committee has ten members: They are W. F. McCaughey, Frank Jackson, Bernard Palmer, Fred Wilkerson, H. F. Nott, Arno Cammerer, L. L. Leslie, J. H. Jones, J. F. Williams and Fred Capelle. Each of these ten has been given a list of ten members of the association. Each of these ten is to persuade to join the club. All that is required to become a member of the club is to give a pledge to secure a new member for the association before January first.

Pledged To Secure Members. The pledge will not be so binding as to require that the member of the "Get One" club pay the amount of a year's subscription in case he fails to secure the desired number, but it is rumored that he will forfeit certain pleasures which the future might otherwise have in store for him.

Association More Frequent. It was only night before last that the committee first met to talk over their plans, and it is hardly time to see what success will be met with. The gift of the Parker Pen company has done much to popularize the association, and a number of the company will probably be secured for the entire year now that they have discovered what the association offers.

Supper Was Served. At the meeting at which the plan was first broached, two nights ago, them members of the committee met for supper in the association building.

An excellent supper was served under the direction of Mrs. Kline and Mrs. Mack, after which the proposition was sprung upon the committee. It met with instant approval, and the plans were perfected yesterday to begin the work.

REVIVAL SERVICES TO BE CONTINUED

Rev. Vaughan Will Conduct Meetings After Mr. Hunt, the Lawyer-Evangelist, Has Left.

During the coming week, with the exception of Monday and Saturday evenings, revival services will be continued at the Baptist church. Messrs. Hunt and King will conclude their work in this city on Sunday, no services being held today, but the evening talks will be continued by Rev. Vaughan.

No meeting will be held by the Young Men's Christian Association tomorrow afternoon, but they will unite their forces with those of the Baptist church, and hold a rousing meeting on Sunday afternoon in the latter house of worship. Mr. Hunt is distinctly a speaker for men. He is powerful no matter what audiences he is addressing, but it is with the men that he has the greatest power, and there is every reason to believe that Sunday's meetings will be even more worth attending than his meetings usually are. The afternoon meetings will be for men only.

Good Meetings Last Week. On Friday evening was held the last service of the past week, closing six days of unusually successful meetings. Mr. Hunt has become popular with his listeners in a marked degree. It is not due especially to his flowery language or bombasts of speech, that he is admired, but because he is signally lacking in both. It is rather due to the sincerity, honesty and absolute accuracy of his remarks, all of them being presented in a logical and conservative way which cannot fail to convince.

MAY SHIFT SOCIAL UNION CLUB DATE

Some Think It Will Be Interfered With by the Twilight Club's Trip to Madison.

It is possible that the date of the Social Union Clubs next meeting may be shifted to accommodate those men who will go to Madison on the preceding evening. Many of the younger club are members of the other organization, and it is desired to avoid all conflicts. It is realized that the greatest efficiency can be accomplished when the two clubs are working in most perfect harmony. Some of the speakers at the meeting set for December 2, will go to Madison in the evening on December 1, and fear that they will not feel in a mood for the second supper and program the next night.

A Phenomenal Boy. A merchant in Chestnut street has become very fond of a boy he engaged last June. The boy entered very early in the morning when the merchant was reading the paper. The latter glanced up and went on reading without speaking. After three minutes the boy said:

"Excuse me—but I am in a hurry!"

"What do you want?" he was asked.

"A job."

"You do?" Well," snorted the man of business, "why are you in such a hurry?"

"Got to hurry," replied the boy. "Left school yesterday to go to work and haven't found anything yet. I can't waste time. If you've got nothing for me, say so, and I'll look elsewhere. The only place where I can stop long is where they pay me for it."

"When can you come?" asked the surprised merchant.

"Don't have to come," he was told. "I'm here now, and would have been to work before this if you'd said so."

DECISIVE GAME IS BEING PLAYED

WILL DECIDE THANKSGIVING DAY GAME BY OUTCOME.

LOCALS VERSUS WHITEWATER

Practice Went Better Last Night, and Players Are Encouraged—Gets Challenge from Lancaster.

Spectators as well as players at the high school football practice last evening were happily surprised to see the good condition in which the boys seemed to be and the vim with which they carried themselves. The invalids did not turn out to be nearly as badly injured as was at first believed.

In Better Spirits. Consequently the eleven went down the field this afternoon to meet the Whitewater players, with whom they had earlier in the season played a 0 to 0 tie game in good spirits, confident of putting up a good fight, even if they failed to win. The game was called at about two-thirty.

Important Game. The outcome of this game is in one sense as important as any this season. That is, the chance to play a Thanksgiving Day game against one of the strongest teams in the state, thereby securing an opportunity to establish standing in the state depends on this game. Lancaster high school has sent a challenge as well as Green Bay. The former team is still unbeaten this season and the challenge is therefore not to be regarded as unworthy of notice.

GOOD WEATHER HELPS WORKMEN

Street Work Will Be Nearly Completed in Ten Days' Time.

Four charges of drunk and disorderly were disposed of by Judge Field yesterday morning. Some of the prisoners were given fines and others a jail sentence, in order to allow them to sober up and go to work.

Michael Riley was charged with being drunk and disorderly on North Main street. He had a long tale about having been to work in the country and that he had come to town for some clothes. He went to a saloon to meet the man he was working for and as he was not there took a few drinks. He told the judge that if he would let him go he would go out to the farm at once and would run all the way there. The judge had heard this story before and sentenced Mr. Riley to pay a fine of $2 and $1.20 costs or spend fifteen days in jail.

Walter Conway was arrested on Lincoln street at the request of his mother, for being drunk and making trouble at home. He plead guilty and was given four days in jail and a fine of $2 and $1.20 costs or six additional days.

Clarence Moses was drunk on West Milwaukee street, he plead guilty and was given five days.

Louis O'Rourke was up on the same charge and was given five days in which to get sober, so he would be in condition to go to work.

INSPECT ROADBED OF INTERURBAN

Tracks Are Now Complete from Beloit to This City—A Little Ballasting Left.

R. W. Hill was up from Beloit yesterday and inspected the Interurban road as far south as the railroad crossing near the Choate-Hollister factory. The connecting rails of the gap when the road passes under the Northwestern track, were laid today and the road is now complete from Beloit to Janesville. Everything is now in shape to run cars over the line, with the exception of a small amount of ballasting, but it is probable that it will be the middle of December before the cars are running regularly. It will be completed in time to give the holiday shoppers from the country the advantage of its service.

BOYS' CHOIR WILL SING ON TOMORROW

To Give Two Numbers During the Morning Service at the Presbyterian Church.

At the Presbyterian Church tomorrow evening the Boy's choir will sing for the first time this year in public service. The choir has been practicing for some time past under the direction of Mrs. John G. Rexford, with Miss Evelyn Packard as pianist. There are about twenty-five voices in the choir and at last evening's rehearsal they sang remarkably well.

During tomorrow morning's service the Boy's choir will sing twice, their chosen number being "The Morning Land" by Perkins. A special number will be "The Choir Boys' Dream" by Lambert, which Roy Carter will sing with the Boys' choir, Mr. Carter singing the solo.

CANNOT PRODUCE M'CUTCHEON'S PLAY

Grace Hayward Company Is Forbidden To Give Graustark in the List of Plays.

By an order from Judge Kolsaat of Chicago, the Grace Hayward company has been temporarily restrained from producing the dramatization of "Graustark." The injunction was served against them at Rockford Wednesday evening, the play having been given the night before as one of the repertoire which the company is producing this season.

On the Tuesday evening, when the play was given, Geo. B. McCutcheon, the author of the book, and Herbert S. Stone, the publisher, were in the audience incognito and returning to Chicago they immediately took steps to secure papers against the company, alleging violation of copyright. Dick Ferris, the owner of the Grace Hayward company, will fight the decree on the ground that no dramatization copyright was secured. The case will be heard on the 25th, and until that time the Grace Hayward company will omit "Graustark" from their repertoire.

SURPRISE ON ERNEST ALLEN.

His Friends Spend a Pleasant Evening as His Uninvited Guests. Ernest Allen was pleasantly surprised at his home, 15 Chatham street, Thursday evening by a small company of his friends. The evening passed merrily with various games and music.

An amusing contest was held, a story in which the names of authors were to be supplied, being read. The first prize for the greatest number of names guessed correctly was won by Edward Whalen and the consolation prize was awarded to Ernest McNitt. During the evening and excellent supper was served.

E. Francis Moran expects to leave shortly for a six months' sojourn in the south. He will be located near Chattanooga.

Its effect is truly magical and gives complete relief in from 2 to 5 minutes."

"A ROYAL FAMILY" AS A NOVEL.
The Romantic Comedy to be Novelized
by Anthony Hope—Some Excerpts From the Witty Play.

Capt. Robert Marshall, author of "A Royal Family," which Miss Percy Haswell and her company will present at the Myers Grand cabled permission to Henry B. Harris, Miss Haswell's manager, to issue his fascinating romantic comedy in book form. Mr. Harris now owns the complete dramatic rights to the play and this new arrangement will soon give Miss Haswell's vehicle unusual prominence.

Mr. Harris is negotiating with Anthony Hope to convert the play into a story, and if this author cannot spare the time arrangements will be made with Stanley Weyman or Marlon Crawford. The comedy should lend itself ideally to novel use. Its scenes are laid in a Zenda-like kingdom and it throws a searchlight on royalty. The puppets of the story are a well bred king, a rebellious princess, a suspicious old dowager queen, a dignified mother queen, a jolly scheming cardinal, a sentimental priest, an eccentric chief of police, an American ambassador and other interesting personages. It will be remembered that King Edward felt considerably this quiet summer evening in the dear old garden where love first came.

Without question "A Royal Family" has all the qualities to make a unique and stirring romance, which should be widely read.

Miss Percy Haswell
A royal welcome will unquestionably be given Miss Percy Haswell at the Myers Grand on Thanksgiving Day upon her appearance as the Princess Angela in Marshall's regal comedy of romance, "A Royal Family."

Miss Haswell's career upon the stage has been an honorable and untiring one. She has had a severe schooling in the drama since her early infancy commencing first under the direction of Augustin Daly and advancing yearly in her art until it may be said she has well earned her present prominence. In her active career she has played nearly 250 different roles including many of the classics—Rosaland, Juliet and Camilla being numbered among her greatest successes. Her following is due to her charming personality as well as her finished art. Of a warm feminine type her successes have been won in depicting the biggest examples of womanhood. Her work has always shown earnestness and purpose and her connections have always been

Desert," and other popular plays, is the author of "A Gambler's Daughter."

Briefly, the plot deals with a Board of Trade man named Horace Merrick who has a beautiful daughter, Kate. She possesses the same dashing and daring spirit that has made her father a leader on 'change. Kate and George Hart, one of the father's clerks, and a manly young fellow, are in love, and there would be no obstacle to their union were it not for Merrick's unscrupulous partner, James Stetson, who holds Merrick in his power.

Merrick leads a double life. He conducts a great and gorgeous gambling house in Michigan avenue, Chicago, although Stetson and Mrs. Mayburn an adventuresome who manages the resort for him, are the only persons who know he is the real owner of the place. These gamblers make it appear young Hart is a defaulter, hoping in this way to turn the beautiful Kate against her lover. Hart's books are tampered with by the conspirators and he is thrust into jail. Merrick then announces to Kate that she must marry Stetson. For the first time in her life she refuses to obey her father.

On the day after the arrest Merrick and Stetson have arranged for a big deal in wheat, by which they expect to ruin many innocent people. Kate hears of it and attempts to prevent the deal. The next scene is a vivid and lifelike reproduction of the Chicago Board of Trade, with its turmoil and excitement as one man after another goes down to financial ruin. Kate deals through her broker, Silas Stone, who is also her trustee for her dead mother's estate. By operating against her father on the wheat market on that eventful day, she soon has him on the very verge of bankruptcy, his careful laid plans all gone awry and he almost insane with rage. This is one of the strongest scenes in the piece.

That night Merrick and Stetson hope to make up their losses at the gambling house. Merrick deals himself, and among the players is a mysterious veiled Spanish lady, a stranger to all. She wins at faro and breaks the bank. Merrick has not a cent left. The supposed Spanish woman proves to be his daughter Kate, when Merrick in his frenzy pulls the mask from her face. All in the place attack the girl to get the money from her. On her way home Kate is decoyed to an old warehouse on the river front. There her father and his confederates try to murder the brave girl by throwing her down a trap door into the river. At the last moment her father's foul design is shaken by the sight of the photograph of his dead wife, Kate's mother, whom he had really loved. Then he tries to save Kate from Stetson and Mrs. Mayburn, but is himself beaten into insensibility. Once more Kate is rescued by her lover, Hart, whose sudden appearance causes Stetson himself to fall through the trap door to the death he had intended for Kate.

With Stetson dead, Merrick is able to reform and Hart to obtain proofs of his innocence.

Miss Marian Shelby, one of the most talented of leading women plays the role of Kate Merrick. She is supported by a large and strong cast including Camilla Crumo as Mrs. Mayburn, C. W. Goodrich as Stetson, Madeline Wheeler, Elsie Franzel, James Norval, C. W. Goodrich, Walter Stanhope, J. J. Hyland, C. H. Harrison, Andrew Quirk, L. P. North and many others.

Mrs. D. W. Watt and her sister, Mrs. Parsons, went to Edgerton today for a visit with friends in that city.

PLAN HOSPITAL FOR CRIPPLES

New York City Has 25,000 Children Afflicted With Hip Disease.

New York, Nov. 22.—Selection of crippled children in preparation for the visit of Dr. Adolph Lorenz has disclosed the fact that there probably are in New York city more than 25,000 children suffering from hip diseases which are likely to make them cripples for life unless properly treated. According to the doctors who have been selecting candidates for the clinic to be held by the Vienna surgeon, the majority of these children need hospital treatment, and this it is impossible to give, as there is no hospital where they can be received. The same ratio of cases is said to exist throughout the state and a movement has been started for the establishment of a hospital to which the legislature will be asked to contribute $100,000.

Manila, Nov. 22.—At a public reception to Gen. Miles in the island of Cebu a Filipino speaker urged a more expeditious fulfillment of the promises made by the Americans, includ-

He said he hoped to see the ambition of the inhabitants for autonomy finally fulfilled. The Filipino chief Seminoia, with fifty followers, has surrendered to the constabulary at Albay, Luzon. WISCONSIN WEATHER FORECAST

LOOK NOT UPON THE WINE

One evening, not long since, two well dressed young men stood before a bar in a down town saloon. They had been drinking heavily, and as they leaned against the counter, and held, with unsteady hand, the wine glass which held contained the good night drink, one of them said:

"John, you're drunk, and so am I. You ought to be ashamed of yourself and so had I. What possessed you to get drunk anyway?"

Before replying John held his glass up to the light, and fascinated with the ruby color said:

"Tom, you and I are drunk, because we like to look upon the wine when it is red. My mother used to read something about it in the old Bible at home, but I never paid much attention to it; guess it would have been better for me if I had."

"Never mind John about your mother or the Bible; that makes me feel homesick myself. Here's luck to you, we'll sober off tomorrow and be good for a month."

The glasses were speedily drained and the boys staggered out to the street and off to their lodgings to sleep off a carousal that was occurring with periodical regularity.

These two young men had met as strangers in a strange city a few months before, and acquaintance soon ripened into friendship. They were from good homes, and held good positions, for they possessed honesty and ability.

They were not in society, and the long evenings, with nothing to do soon became monotonous, and they drifted, as many other young men have done, into the most attractive place on the street, the modern saloon. They had no intention of becoming drunkards, and if any danger had been suggested, they would have resented with righteous indignation.

But human nature, and human weakness is very much alike the world over, and it was only a step from the first glass to the second, and a very short journey to the appetite that craved more than the social glass.

They were well on the way to moral and physical wreckage before the voyage of life was fairly launched, and like a multitude of young men of large heart and generous disposition they soon became their own worst enemy, and the struggle was unequal, because they lacked the will power to resist.

It is not the mission of the secular press to denounce the saloon. It is an institution that has back of it public sentiment, and it will exist and thrive, just so long as this sentiment demands its existence.

Much temperance reform is misdirected because effort and energy is devoted to an attempt to purify the stream, when the fountain that supplies it is neglected. A single generation of temperate boys, would mean a nation of total abstainers in twenty-five years, and the saloon would go out of business for lack of patronage.

The boys of today are the men of tomorrow, and the responsibilities of government, of business, and of society are upon them before their fathers fairly realize it.

The influence that starts the boy out right in life, and holds him steadily until he gets squarely on his feet and able to hold and control himself, is the influence that accomplishes more for practical temperance reform, than all the fights that are made on saloons.

While it is possible occasionally to reform men in middle life, it ought to be possible to save every young man from becoming a drunkard.

It is always much easier to theorize than to perform. Easier to say what ought to be, than to accomplish reform, and yet public thought and public sentiment needs stimulating along practical lines, and never more so than today, when so much energy is invested in impractical measures.

The problem of saving young men to themselves and to good citizenship is more important than any social or religious problem that confronts the nation today.

It is well to send the Bible across the seas, and to spend money freely in efforts to enlighten and christianize the dark corners of the earth, but it is better to develop American manhood from the material close at hand. If surplus energy can accomplish both, it is well, but the latter should never be sacrificed.

The boy problem is no nearer solution today, than it was twenty-five years ago, because the helpful hand and well directed influence, does not restrain them.

The church is powerless to hold them, and it is a long step between the Y. M. C. A. and the street.

Every boy, who is not a degenerate, and this class is extremely rare, is possessed of more or less good impulses. While he cannot be driven, if taken at the proper time he may be led.

He has no appetite for drink and never will have unless cultivated.

When he takes his first glass he is prompted by a desire to be social and he swallows the contents with difficulty.

Did you ever notice him when he enjoyed his first cigar. He doesn't enjoy it any more than he enjoyed the first glass, but he imagines that in some way it adds to his stature, and so while nature rebels he tries to smoke like a veteran, and then goes out behind the barn to repent.

He is standing on dangerous ground and if he ever needed wise admonition and kindly counsel, it is now.

It is only a step from the first transgression to appetite, and appetite is always the advance guard of habit. The boy can be reached before he falls, much easier than he can be kept on his feet after he is down.

The question is, how to reach him. The man or the woman that can suggest the plan, will accomplish more for permanent moral reform than has been accomplished in a generation.

The material is at the doorway of American homes, and it will enter into the foundation of American society at no distant day. It is the choicest material that ever engaged the attention of any people, and the responsibility of dealing with it is a grave responsibility.

It is very easy to overlook the opportunities of life that are close at hand. We go to the Klondike, and the coast, in search of gold, and frequently overlook the demands in our own doorway.

When the destiny of the American boy is fully appreciated, energy will be concentrated in his behalf, and public sentiment will become a self-appointed guardian in his interests.

The average boy is open to advice and conviction. The father may not be the best counselor, for many men who pass as good fathers, are not acquainted with their boys, and have but little influence over them.

The employer or the friend, is frequently the boy's better advisor. He appreciates the kindly interest from outside the home, because it is disinterested.

The mother may have read temperance lessons to him from the bible, and with prayer and exhortation exhausted every effort to start him out on a manly course, he argues that the mother is a woman, with but little knowledge of conditions outside the home.

It is then that he needs the word of counsel from some man in whom he has confidence. Many a boy has been saved from ruin by a little interest expressed in his behalf at a time when he needed help.

More of this good work will be accomplished when its importance is more fully appreciated. The world needs more people who feel individual responsibility and the American boy needs a friendly hand rather than the frown, which is too often bestowed.

The Milwaukee Sentinel, under the present management, is the best newspaper that the state has ever had, and there is no question about the loyalty to republicanism. If it would consign its early editions to the waste basket, and arrange to distribute its late editions over the state, it would soon be recognized as a formidable rival by Chicago papers.

The Evening Wisconsin is still noted for conservatism. It seldom makes mistakes because it never makes any rash statements. As a clean and wholesome family paper, it is fully appreciated in the field where it circulates. It enjoys the prestige of age and experience under one management, and it is a credit to the home city.

The Milwaukee Free Press is filling a temporary want, in a field already occupied. Flushed with victory, as the champion of state reform the paper emphasizes republicanism with all the trills attached. The stability of its constituency will depend largely upon the length of the reform era.

The friends of Doctor Roberts are a little anxious to know whether the doctor will hold his job. The Gazette is not on the most intimate terms with the governor, and therefore is unable to speak by the card, but the paper will wager a doughnut against a biscuit that the state veterinarian will not be disturbed.

Billy Pike is no sun fish, but he is a little too fresh to be called a sardine. The old gentlemen money has given him a little cheap notoriety, but it didn't prevent his being a sucker.

The Rev. James G. Mott of Wil-Hamburg, New York, resigned his pastorate, because his lady parishioners were open work hosiery. The modesty of some men is alarming.

The Milwaukee Journal courts free advertising on every hand, and gets it in liberal measure. There are no files on the Journal and nothing in the way of a political creed that can not be changed over night.

The Milwaukee News attempts to be a democratic organ and succeeds in voicing the sentiments of a liberal constituency.

PRESS COMMENT.

Oshkosh Northwestern: The Northwestern is itself free to express regret that Mr. Babcock failed to improve the opportunity offered him to become the recognized leader of the tariff revision movement. It fails to see justification for the charges of ulterior motives in the course he has taken.

Baltimore American: There are now but two kinds of political parties in this country—the "Point with Prizes" and the "View with Alarms."

Milwaukee Sentinel: Having excited the wrath of the Methodists and the labor unions, it is about time President Elliot of Harvard paused to inquire whether he is drifting.

Marquette Star: Babcock's action is indicative of a very patriotic and unselfish motive, and in the opinion of many will elevate him in the esteem and respect of the public more than election as speaker would.

Milwaukee Journal: It is a safe guess that Congressman Babcock has recently been having a few extra sessions of his own with colleagues and constituents who are looking for explanations.

Milwaukee News: With the Kansas hatchet brigade on his trail, it is not at all remarkable that the governor of the Sunflower state has hid himself in Missouri in search of a wife.

Green Bay Gazette: Congressman Babcock is in all probability is not a disappointed man. His nursing of his speakership boomlet and its explosion of last Saturday in the most approved and likewise most effective manner is an indication of the unusual shrewdness in such matters. His "blasting hopes" will be of material assistance to him in the next congress.

Evening Wisconsin: Joseph G. Cannon is not receiving the support of the Chicago Chronicle, though he is the "home candidate." But the Chronicle is a democratic organ, consistently wrong on the tariff, and nobody wrong on the tariff is likely any good in a sturdy, true-blue republican like Cannon.

Milwaukee Wisconsin: Mr. Babcock's popularity is very great, as was shown by the unsolicited offers of support which came to him from all sides. His conduct of the congressional campaign has made many of the members-elect feel under personal obligations to him, and he would, had he desired to enter the contest for the speakership, made a strong run. But Cannon, an older member of the house than he, and admirably qualified for leadership, is also strongly supported for the place, and had Mr. Babcock concluded to make the run, the western vote would have been split and the prize might have gone to the east, as both Payne of New York and Dalzell of Pennsylvania are men of large ability and influence.

F. A. TAYLOR

JAMES KEENE AS THE BUSINESS MAN

His Actions Are Closely Watched on Wall Street, and He Is Feared.

The attention of speculative interests for a week or more has been again fastened upon James R. Keene, he is, of course, in many respects the foremost operator in the market, but on occasions he rises to the importance of being himself the market. In Wall street they have thought him to be that for a week. His hand was seen plainly enough at previous stages of the autumn decline, but only lately has it seemed that he alone was the transcendent operating force. It is believed that in his principal operations that of putting irresistible pressure upon this stock or that, Mr. Keene has been acting in harmony with some of the largest financial interests in the market world. It is pretty generally agreed now that the Standard Oil interests have been bearing the market, and the belief is deep that Mr. Keene has been their principal operating ally. His genius amounts to almost magic. Veteran traders stood over the tape last week watching the queer decline of St. Paul and said, "Keene is doing this. No other operator alive could be responsible for manipulation of precisely this character." St. Paul was but one example of many. There is hardly any doubt that Keene lost a great deal of money long of stocks, but those who best know the man and his affairs believe that he has more than made it back on the decline. He gave out a bullish interview one day last week, saying the country was all right as far as he could see, and that those who were long of stocks would do well to sit tight. The market would turn he said, and in argument of this he said: "It always has." Professional readers recalled the Keene, a bear, who wished to have himself interviewed in just that strain year ago when he was selling stocks and they went short of the market for no other reason than that they considered it wise play to "copper Keene." It is related of Keene that once in his thin piping voice and with grim sarcasm he observed to a small circle of intimates that you can fool half of Wall street by lying but the whole of it by telling the truth. In light of this amiable philosophy one might be able to read possible ulterior significance in that bullish interview. But it will take time to tell for sure.

The "Street" was thrown into great excitement by a rumor that Keene had had a falling out with his son-in-law, Talbot J. Taylor, and had suddenly and in his turn transferred his headquarters to the brokerage establishment of Samuel Boocook. Now, Boocook was Keene's chief broker in years of old, before Talbot J. Taylor married his daughter. It was Boocook that managed some of the darling operator's most daring campaigns on the bear side of the market. From this it is easy to see why Wall street should have attacked a great deal of importance to the report of Keene's spectacular transfer of headquarters from Taylor's house where he has been since his alliance with the Morgan party, to the house of a broker who in former years had been his bear lieutenant. But it was a false and unnecessary excitement, born of the same mental stress the prevailing in the market. Father-in-law Keene may have had a tilt with Son-in-law Taylor, but it wasn't anything serious enough to cause a break of their professional relations. And as for Boocook there is good reason to believe that he has borne close relations to his old principal all the time, although keeping himself far in the background, when, indeed, he always did even when he was Keene's ranking man.

We sat at the table together. She cast a shy glance over at me. She certainly looked like an angel. Oh, Charles! Please order me Rocky Mountain Tea. Smith's Pharmacy.

Miss Winifred Ross, of Kirkland, Ill., is visiting in the city, the guest of Miss Evelyn Packer.

Sewing as a business is an exacting and exhausting occupation. Long hours, fine work, poor light, unhealthy atmosphere—these are only some of the things which fret the nerves and hurt the general health. Often there is a diseased condition of the womanly organism which causes backache or headache and the working of the sewing machine under such conditions is akin to torture.

Thousands of women who work have written grateful letters to Dr. R. V. Pierce, whose "Favorite Prescription" has cured their womanly ills and established their general health. "Favorite Prescription" establishes regularity, drives out unhealthy and offensive humors, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness. It makes weak women strong and sick women well.

Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter free and so avoid the delicate questioning, offensive examinations and obnoxious local treatments deemed necessary by some physicians. All correspondence private. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y. "I take great pleasure in recommending Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for female weakness," writes Mrs. Susan M. Permer, of Santa Rosa, Shelby Co., Texas. "I was troubled with bearing-down pains in my back and hips for six years, and wrote to Dr. Pierce for advice. I tried his 'Favorite Prescription' and six bottles cured me. I feel like a new person and I thank Dr. Pierce for my health. Life is a luxury to anyone without health. I have told a great many of my friends about the great medicine I took."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, in paper covers, is sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

WARREN PARKER HERE

is Superintendent of The Deaf Institute of The State

Warren D. Parker, of Madison, a former superintendent of the Janesville public schools, was in the city yesterday on business and greeted a few of his old friends. Mr. Parker is now state inspector of the schools for the deaf.

There is a popular but erroneous belief that the only state school for the deaf is at Delavan, when the fact is that there are eighteen cities in Wisconsin which have schools for the deaf. Of course the leading one is the large state institution at Delavan but in any city which has enough deaf children to make it practicable, say eight or ten, a school may be established as a part of the public school system. A room is set apart for that purpose and a special teacher engaged, the state bearing a part of the expense.

A Responsible Position
Because of the fact that the state contributes to the support of these schools an inspector is employed to see that the teachers engaged have the special qualifications that are necessary and to see that the schools are up to standard. Mr. Parker's position as state inspector is one of high responsibility as one that his many years of experience along educational lines fit him to fill ably.

Many Teachers Employed
In the state of Wisconsin there are forty-nine teachers who are devoting their efforts exclusively to teaching the deaf. Of this number eighteen are connected with the state institution at Delavan. There are nine at Milwaukee three at Eau Claire two at Fond du Lac and two at Superior. The smaller state schools for the deaf, where only one teacher is required, are located at Appleton, Ashland, Black River Falls, Green Bay, LaCrosse, Marinette, Neillsville, Oshkosh, Racine, Sheboygan, Sparta, Stevens Point and Wausau.

Only a Kiss
Edith Sessions Tupper, in The Chicago Chronicle, gives a woman's views on kissing. She says:
"I notice that certain scientists say that the kiss must go; that the tender caresses soothe with germs and bacteria with microbes; and that it is constantly getting in its deadly work; that for slaying its thousands it is only equalled by the jawbone of an ass in Samson's day and by christian science up to date.
"So the kiss must go? Humpf! I fancy women will have something to say about that. The bulk of this world's kissing is done by women. They kiss earlier and oftener and deal in a more varied line of kisses than the men.
"Men, as a rule, only kiss women and children.
"Men do not kiss each other.
"Men do not kiss their deadly enemies.
"Men do not kiss horses.
"Men do not kiss dogs.
"Women kiss any old thing that happens along—distant relatives, cats, each other, babies.
"Woman has kissed since the world was fashioned. Do you imagine for one instant that germs and microbes are going to frighten her from exercising one of her inalienable rights?"

Edward O'Connor
Word was received yesterday announcing the death of Edward J. O'Connor formerly of this city at his home in Omaha. He leaves a mother and one brother to mourn his loss.

Fixing City Taxes: City Clerk Badger has received the tax levy for state and county taxes from County Clerk Starr and will spend the next thirty days in figuring out the different amounts the citizens will have to pay.

Willis Walrath
Willis Walrath, a well known resident of Rock county, died at the home of his father, Jacob Walrath, in Fulkton, last evening at ten o'clock. Death was due to heart failure. Deceased has two sisters residing in this city, Mrs. James Earle, Glen street and Mrs. Ada Johnson, Madison street.

CITY NEWS NOTES
The mens meeting regularly held at the Y. M. C. A. building at 3 p. m. Sunday will not take place tomorrow. The mens meeting at the Baptist church at the same hour will take its place.

Must Repair Road: The line of the Beloit, Delavan Lake and Janesville road along Wall street will need to be repaired on account of the steam roller being run too close to the rails. The nuts on the fish plates were sheared off by the heavy iron wheels as neatly as if they had been cut by a bolt cutter. It will necessitate now bolts being put in in a number of places.

In Justice Court: In Justice Court today the case of Horatio Nelson against Cornelius Cronin, to recover a sum of money due for funeral charges, was held over until this afternoon for a further hearing. In the case of F. L. Clemons against B. W. Comstock was to have been heard today. It had been impossible to obtain personal service of the papers upon the defendant, and so the case was adjourned to December 16 to allow of service by publication. In both of the above cases the Chicago and Northwestern railway company was garnisheed.

No Go
Mamie went to Sunday school and came back with a very serious face. "What's the matter, Mamie?" asked mamma. "Didn't you have a nice time at Sunday school?" Then Mamie explained: "The superintendent said that no one could go to Heaven 'less they had a pure, clean heart, and I have swallowed a button and a rock and a peach seed."—Lippincott's Magazine.
